RE: 456 Cady Street Mixed Use Development
Demolition Application Supporting Information

ARCHITECTURAL AND HISTORIC DATA RELATED TO THE STRUCTURE

Date of construction of the resource:

- Oldest extant structure (small building adjacent to Cady): circa 1910
- Remaining extant structures (modern additions): circa 1960's

Architectural styles of the resource:

- There is no single defining architectural style that could be used to define the character of this assemblage of buildings, in particular based upon their varying ages of construction and uses. The oldest structure has a classical early industrial character defined by its use of rock-faced cast block, pitched roof with ventilation louvers, and standard large window openings for daylight and ventilation. The newer (circa 1960's) buildings are a combination of high-bay industrial as a typological character (concrete block, flat roof, steel frame, transom lighting, etc.) with an L-shaped addition circa 1960's having the most clearly definable style noted as being Mid-century Modern.

Historic Photographs of the resource:

- See attached documentation

Name of original owner/builder/developer:

- Oldest extant structure: American Bell & Foundry Company
- Remaining extant structures: Foundry Flask & Equipment Company

Building Timeline:

Based upon Sanborn maps and historic aerial images, the following is the presumed timeline for the extant structures:

- 1914 Sanborn – “Machine Shop” on Cady Street is evident – original structures lost in 1957 fire are indicated
- 1942 Sanborn – Building now called “Furnace Parts” – much if not all of the buildings along Plymouth Avenue (now vacated) have been removed leaving a centralized collection of industrial structures
- 1957 Aerial – Cady Street structure remains – previously indicated building have been removed and a new structure was developed in proximity to the river and vacated street
- 1964 Aerial – Cady Street structure remains - extant central high-bay building in place along with western single-story wing
- 1967 Aerial – Cady Street structure remains – eastern single-story addition added completing the current configuration

Detailed description of the building materials that are original to the resource:

- Rock face concrete block – painted
- Standard concrete block -painted
- Steel transom windows – most likely prefinished with most of glazing destroyed
- Wood ventilation dormers – painted

Historic information regarding the resource:

- Portions of the property are presently in the Historic District boundaries.

HDC APPLICATION FOR DEMOLITION OR RELOCATION OF A HISTORIC BUILDING

(separately submitted)

WRITTEN NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION OF PROPOSED PROCESS TO ACCOMPLISH THE WORK

There are multiple steps that need to be attained by the applicant to complete the proposed development work on this site. These are based upon an estimated linear order with obvious caveats being made based upon staff input and direction. It likewise presumes standard approvals at each step of the process:

- Submission to HDC for Demolition application and public meeting
- Submission to HDC Conceptual Design Review
- Approval of Demolition application
- Demolition permit application
- Submission to Planning Commission for Approval
- Submission to HDC for Approval
- Submit for site/civil permits
- Submit for architectural permits

APPLICATION BASED UPON THE RESOURCE BEING A DETERRENT TO A MAJOR IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

(Please see attached drawings and photographic documentation as requested)

The proposed improvements on this site are intended to provide approximately 80 residential units and ground level commercial space at the eastern end of the Cady Street corridor.

As a community, this district has long been considered as having its own unique nature and character. In fact, the 2018 City of Northville Master Plan defines this district as having its own sub-area within the context of the larger city and likewise uses the expression "Cady Town" to define its bounded area. Long and short is that this area of the city has been identified as having too many vacant or underutilized parcels that "are logically situated for growth and new investment."

Further, the City has established special overlay zoning specific to this property - the Cady Street Overlay District. This defines the specifics of the broader Master Plan guidelines and refines these requirements to explicitly include mixed-use developments and overall massing and height configuration. It likewise specifies minimum setback dimensions along Cady Street and maximum building heights that balance the density and scale of the buildings.

This project is seeking to develop a building that would integrate into and reinforce the streetscape of Cady Street by providing a three-story mixed use building blending under one roof residential, commercial, residential amenity, and parking uses. The building would front Cady Street directly and the required parking situated to the rear of the building away from the street frontage. Additionally, the existing eastern easement would be adapted for additional parking that would service the commercial spaces as a public parking area.

The design intent for this building is to capture and convey the historical context of the area and this site by establishing a contextual building design. The design addresses the nature of the broader range of structures that have occupied this property to establish a contemporized interpretation of this context and materiality, rooting the building in context to its historic past through massing, materiality, scale, etc. and acknowledging this historic reference and relationship.

As a result, the proposed project attains conformance with not only the specific context of this site but with the large context of the community as exemplified by its Master Plan in particular. Specifically, there are several key areas and elements that incorporate benefits to the broader community:

- 1) Adapting the broad opportunities, preferred land uses, form-based policies and site design and pedestrian considerations as determined by the Master Plan.
- 2) Conforming to the Cady Street Overlay District.
- 3) Establishing an urban edge condition at the eastern end of Cady Street.
- 4) Adding street parking and sidewalks the full length of the project extending the existing streetscape standards which are not presently adapted in this area.
- 5) Adding a variety of residential unit sizes (from one to three-bedroom sizes) and increasing the housing opportunities in downtown Northville.
- 6) Establishing commercial spaces to pull activity to this end of downtown.
- 7) Providing interpretive signage as part of the development providing a visual history of the varying uses of the property and the surrounding area.
- 8) Creating opportunities to provide future direct pedestrian access to the Rouge River that connect to and enhance existing pedestrian sidewalks and linkages from the rest of the downtown.

Note that this projects success is predicated upon establishing the demolition of the existing structures to accommodate the proposed development. Without these buildings being removed, this, or most likely any, project cannot go forward. We are requesting that this demolition application be granted without conditions in order for demolition to proceed prior to future approvals.

ADDITIONAL SUPPORTING NARRATIVE CONSISTENT WITH THE REQUESTED INFORMATION

Supporting graphic documentation is being provided which elaborates further upon both "challenges" of retaining the existing structures for use as well as the proposed design intent of the project. Please see the attached submission set for additional reference.

In regards to alternatives to full demolition, alternate considerations and quick studies were done to assess the opportunity to retain portions of the existing structures. Functionally, the most significant challenges are how to repurpose any element of the existing structures while adding new uses and buildings to the site.

Primary challenges for reusing in some capacity the existing buildings include:

- The existing buildings are very specifically designed for industrial uses. They are adaptable for certain limited functions with basic repurposing. These may include interior event spaces or other such uses. However, these are not economically viable uses based upon the intended and projected uses for the property in conjunction with the price of the property itself.
- The critical mass of the extant buildings is centralized on the site, leaving very limited space (adding in the context of the river and easements) for new construction and certainly not enough to attain the density required for viability and success of the project.
- The location of the buildings along Cady Street do not provide any form of setback from the ROW to accommodate street parking or additional pedestrian amenities. This section of Cady Street is incredibly narrow, with the building on the property to north being directly on the curb of the street. If streetscape standards are to be implemented the entirety of the 1910 machine house would be fully in the setback condition.
- There are numerous easements that limit the development of the site, including the vacated public road to the east which bisects the property.
- A single-family residence exists to the west. It would not be optimal to build anything immediately adjacent from both an historical and planning perspective.

Sheet SK-05 depicts these challenges in a graphic fashion. It very distinctly depicts the architectural challenge of providing for a mixed-use project that meets with the requirements of the Master Plan and Zoning Ordinance while still providing the scale and density of uses that support the cost of both the property and the development construction costs.

This property has been on the market for a lengthy period of time and is priced accordingly for new development. It is not economically feasible to retain the existing buildings AND provide the return to any development that meets with a viable outcome.

MEMORANDUM

TO: City of Northville Historic District Commission
FROM: Sally M. Elmiger, AICP
DATE: April 12, 2021
RE: 456 E. Cady St. (Foundry Flask) – Proposed Demolition

The applicant is proposing to demolish the existing buildings on this site in order to construct a new mixed-use building. The basis chosen for the demolition by the applicant is as follows: “The resource is a deterrent to a major improvement program.”

The Historic District Boundary cuts through the site, and the east and southeast part of the site are not within the Historic District Boundary. However, all the existing buildings are.

Demolition Application Requirements

We have reviewed the materials against the Demolition Application requirements, and have the following comments:

1. The application requires information about the process used to complete the work. The applicant provided a description of the various approvals needed to clear the site and construct the new building. However, a description of how the buildings will be taken down also needs to be provided.
2. The application also requires written evidence of any advice sought by the applicant from a professional experienced in historic preservation work. If the project architect has such experience, a description should be provided.
3. The basis for demolition requires: “Evidence of required planning and zoning approval for proposed work, financing and environmental clearances.” The list of approvals provided in the application materials shows that HDC approval for the new project will be sought after the Planning Commission has approved the plans. However, this particular basis requires planning approval before demolition can be approved.

In summary, the applicant should provide this to the Building Department by Wednesday, April 14, 2021 to be included in Commissioner’s packets. If not possible, the information should be provided at the HDC meeting on April 21, 2021.

Next Steps

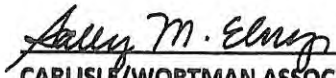

The Commissioners need to determine that, with the additional information provided by the applicant (listed above), the application is complete. If yes, then the Commissioners need to determine if the resource has historical/architectural significance. If yes, then the next step is for the HDC to schedule a public hearing at the next available meeting. If no, then the Commissioners may make a formal decision on the demolition at this meeting.

Northville restaurant wants more outside seating

David Veselenak Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK – MICHIGAN

Have you wanted to ever dine in the middle of a driveway? You'll soon have the chance at one of downtown Northville's restaurants.

The city's planning commission reviewed and recommended approval to allow the Garage Grill and Fuel Bar, 202 W. Main St., to add more than two dozen additional outdoor seats in the restaurant's front driveway.

The push for additional outdoor seating continues well into the COVID-19 pandemic where more restaurants have sought outdoor dining as a way to attract guests.

"This year was kind of a trial year for all of us in Northville and certainly for the Garage," said owner Mark Evasic during the meeting. "Those heaters were never meant to be running in January or February.

"However, people really embraced coming to dinner on some nights that were very, very cold."

Efforts have been made across the region to keep business for restaurants at a time when indoor dining has been limited. The Centers for Disease Control rec-

The Garage Grill and Fuel Bar in Northville wants to add more than two dozen additional outdoor seats in the front driveway. JOHN HEIDER/HOMETOWNLIFE.COM ommends dining outside or getting carryout as an alternative to dining indoors, which has a higher risk of spreading the coronavirus that causes COVID-19, according to that agency. Currently, the State of Michigan allows for 50% occupancy inside for restaurants.

The new seats at the Garage would coexist with other outdoor dining the American restaurant currently offers. The driveway area will have seating for 26 people, spaced out six feet apart and roped off from the sidewalk to allow for serving alcohol.

How long the additional seating will remain at the eatery is something still to be determined. The initial request was to go until November, though several commissioners brought up the fact that outdoor dining in the middle of both Main Street and Center Street will continue through the winter until the end of next February.

With that farther-out date, some commissioners wondered if allowing for the restaurant, which is not within the area near the street closures, to have its temporary outdoor seating longer into the winter would better coincide with the rest of the activities downtown.

In the end, the additional, temporary seating will be allowed so long as the roads are closed in downtown Northville.

Especially if ownership planned to come back before the city to extend it, said Commissioner Marc Russell, allowing for it to run longer just made sense at the current time.

Challenges remain for restaurants, hotels as COVID-19 recovery begins

David Veselenak
Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK – MICH.

The hospitality industry in Michigan may not look the same once the COVID-19 pandemic ends the president and CEO of the Michigan Restaurant & Lodging Association recently told a group of Novi business people.

Justin Winslow spoke before a few dozen people during a City of Novi morning event April 22. Addressing the small group gathered at the food court at Twelve Oaks Mall — the first in-person talk he said he had done in more than a year — he discussed the state of the hospitality industry and the challenges it has and will face in the future.

"The level of shuttered industry has been our reality for a long time and its impacts are felt acutely right now, and I think they're going to be something that we're going to feel as an industry as we're adapting to for a long time to come," he said.

He discussed the impact of shuttering dining rooms across the state last year, which totaled more than 150 days since March 16, 2020. Those closures, he said have resulted in sales being down 57% in Michigan compared to 26% nationally. In February, the restaurant industry has seen the loss of more than 225,000 jobs since the pandemic began. He said more than 3,000 restaurants have closed their doors since the beginning of the pandemic.

"I think it's something that's been felt by everyone, and felt by every industry and is felt by this industry more," he said.

Gov. Gretchen Whitmer — and later the state Department of Health and Human Services — closed indoor dining twice in reaction to COVID-19: once from March 16, 2020 to early June 2020 at the beginning of the pandemic; and again from Nov. 18, 2020 to Jan. 31 when infection rates increased significantly.

For restaurant owners like J.D. West and Marty Knollenberg, who own Sedona Taphouse restaurants in both Novi and Troy, the challenge has been difficult on many fronts. Those include a lack of clarity from the state on several issues, as well as a challenge to bring in more employees.

The yo-yoing of closures in the last year has made it tough for their employees, especially if they have to wait for unemployment checks due to issues at the state level, West said.

"A lot of people in this industry, they live week-to-week on their money," he said. "They don't have a huge savings account."

West said they are down between 20-30% of employees and have found it difficult to locate new workers. He said he used to get plenty of applicants before the pandemic through word-of-mouth; now, they spend money advertising positions to find help.
